Feedback Report
October 2019

45
stalls!

190
visitors!

On Thursday 10 October 2019 Kirklees Council held its Fourth Preparing for adulthood – local offer live event. The event was held at the Textile Centre of Excellence in Huddersfield.

The event took place from 11-3pm and had 45 stalls to show people what is currently available in Kirklees across the 4 themes of preparing for adulthood:

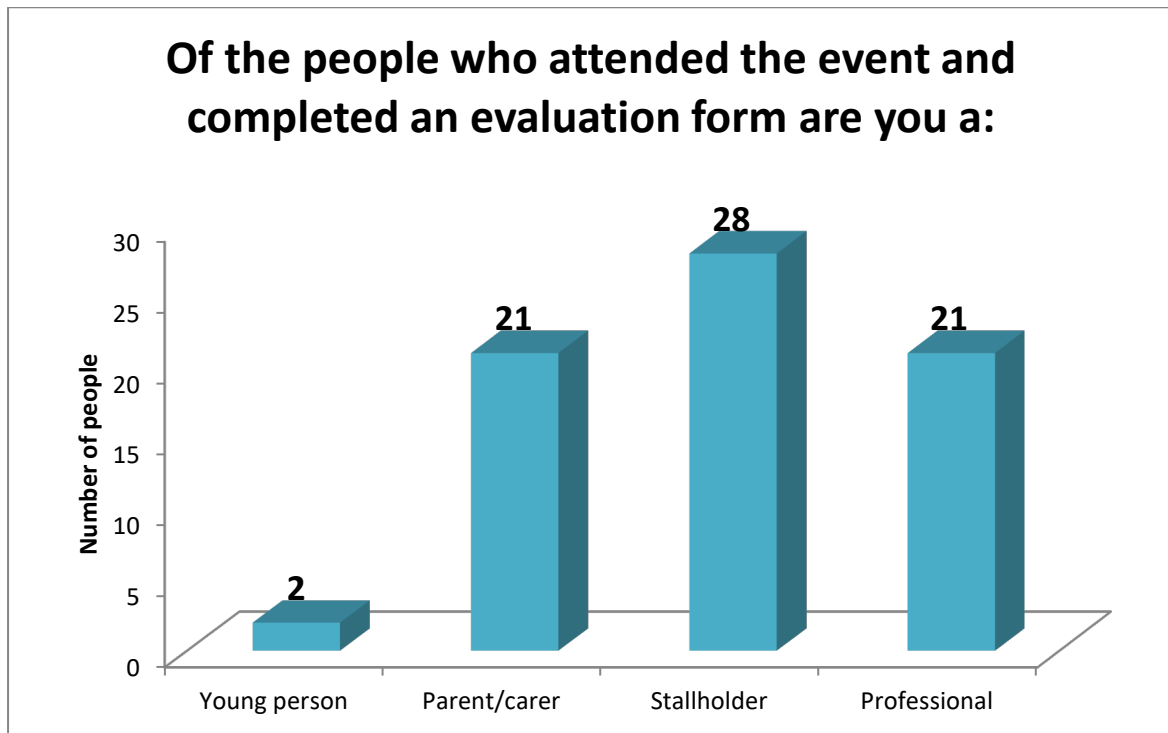

- Further education and employment
- Independent living – planning for a home of my own
- Participating in society – having a life
- Being as healthy as possible

51 organisations booked a stall on Eventbrite but 1 sent apologies before (Job Centre Plus) and 5 did not turn up (Dark Horse, HTAFC Foundation, Kirklees SENDACT, Mencap in Kirklees and Street Bikes).

190 people attended included young people aged 14-25 with a disability and/or special educational needs, their parents / carers as well as professionals.

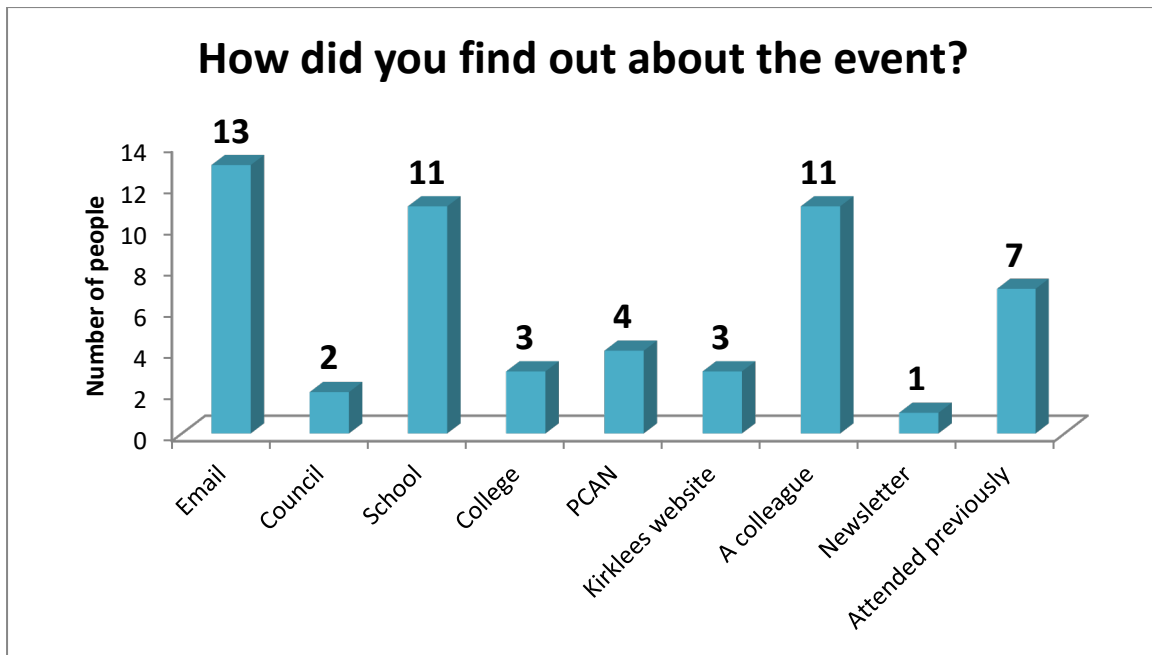

The aim of the event was to bring information on the Kirklees local offer website to life and help shape future services by working together.

Out of 190 people who attended, 72 people completed an evaluation form – but not everyone answered all questions.

Cllr Carole Pattison opened the event at 11am

This kind of event really helps to share information on my options to help me prepare for adult life

Comments:

Too cramped and too hot. Not enough room on stalls and to sit down for stallholders

My only comment would be it seems that similar events have run very recently possibly too close together

I am a stallholder lots of people have commented how useful the day was.

Lots of variety. Really well organised. Lots of people attended our stall

Lots of interest for our services. Great event for signposting. Lots of relevant, informative providers

I didn't feel this was as well attended as the previous 2 years.

Good variety of services available

Really helpful as a professional supporting young people to know what services are available, thank you

No wheelchair access from pavement to centre. Timing good for us but maybe others would come in evening.

Overall did you enjoy the event?

Do you have any other comments to make about the event?

Great chance to meet other professionals and understand local architecture.

Very helpful for stallholders to be able to exchange information and understand other services on offer.

Good range of stalls and stallholders.

Seemed quieter than last year, less stallholders and families/pupils.

Varied stalls, colour coded – excellent easy to find.

Great idea to bring schools in on buses!

Very well organised and run.

No.

Thank you.

Less footfall than last year. More thought regarding placement of stallholders as some had lots of space but unlikely to need space for interactions.

Not enough space – too hot and unable to open windows.

The event has been very useful to identify new services for service users.

Would have been easier to access in town centre.

Very useful to connect all the services to people who use them.

Really useful not only for carers but professionals.

Really fantastic for young people.

Good for networking

Almost information overload but good

Was in good location / accessible

Really good and informative

Maybe a talk or discussion live

Excellent informative event

Well organised

It was helpful and interesting

What other stalls would you have liked to have seen at the event?

Adult CHC

More sensory

Job centre to discuss universal credit and employment support allowance – unfortunately sent apologies the week of the event

Job centre plus support for schools team – left email address to be invited to next event

Would have loved to see some stands or leaflets about inspiring stories, vloggers, and people with LD & PD who have done amazing things.

Travel training – community enablement team

Independent service users

Pity SENDACT weren't here

Information on schools outside of area, Kirklees.

Music

More careers companies

Was there anything that would have made it more interesting or informative?

A networking session for professionals. A cup of tea would have been much appreciated.

Share email contacts of all stallholders/organisations would be helpful networking opportunity.

Maybe a session for more professionals to attend.

Really great well organised event. Great level of information.

I am the manager of the job centre plus support for schools team in West Yorkshire and we would like to attend next time – thanks!

I would like to have brought my daughter to the event, unfortunately she was at school.

More art like video showings, sports, entertainment

If we hold the event next year, would you come again?

Recommendations

Hold another event next year - From the feedback and attendance the event was a success. I would recommend another event is held next year to build on its success. We need to check if PCAN/Children's will be holding another event and make sure that there is enough time between the events

Agree funding for future events - The cost of the venue was funded by five special schools and Kirklees College. SEND funding paid for the banners to be put up and taken down and printing costs were covered internally by the council. Event organisation was undertaken by Adults Commissioning.

This year the numbers were slightly lower than last year: From comments received this may have been due to the event held by PCAN/Children's less than one month before. Also we are not aware that any of the mainstream schools with specialist provision attended.

Work with schools to promote and encourage attendance by parents and young people – This year the council provided schools with vinyl banners to hang in a prominent position, an image to put on their websites, social media messages and printed leaflets to send out parents. This year we noticed more parents meeting their young people from the school minibuses. Review the stalls, provide a tally sheet for stallholders to record how many people who ask about their service and ask the Communications Team to work with inhouse services to develop information products for their stalls at future events. This has a big impact on the stall and the number of people asking about the service.

Further work is still needed to improve promotion and attendance by professionals. This should be a mandatory fact finding event for any frontline worker who works with young people aged 14-25 and their families.

Ask the relevant Cabinet member to open the event - Cllr Carole Pattison opened the event and Cllr Viv Kendrick and Cllr Musarrat Khan also attended the event

Stallholders – we still had an issue with some stallholders not turning up and leaving early before the end of the event. Next year we will stress the importance to stallholders that if they book a stall they need to attend and also print Rules for stallholders which will be placed on each stall for everyone who covers the stall at any point throughout the event need to abide by.
